ENHANCE YOUR
ELECTRICAL CAREER

PAT Business Start up

Includes City & Guilds 2377-20 course

This course is specifically aimed at those wanting to start their own business as a PAT tester.

If you are interested in starting a PAT business, this course will show you how to PAT test and will cover aspects of setting up a business.

Who is the Course Designed For?

The PAT Business Start up course is suitable for anyone wanting to start their own PAT testing business. Previous knowledge of PAT testing is not required but learners should have a good understanding of electrics.

Anyone who is looking for a new career path or would like to work for themselves in this industry would find this course beneficial. If you are looking for a course which provides good understanding of the subject matter and business advice, this is the course for you.

What Does the Course Cover?

The first day of the course starts with the "Principles of Electricity" and the syllabus of the City and Guilds 2377-20 course followed by the examination for this qualification. See the course factsheet on the 2377-20 for details of this aspect of the course.

The second day looks at essential health and safety advice followed by information on choosing the right PAT machine for the job.

Learners also carry out PAT testing in real scenario testing bays which include a vast array of electrical applications and mock ups of a kitchen, office and bathroom. After this learners will be instructed in using PAT software and how to manage PAT testing results.

The third day focuses on the practicalities of starting a business and will cover:

- Tax and insurance,
- Business Banking,
- Funding Available,
- Set up costs,
- Pricing and Marketing.

City & Guilds Accredited Centre

City & Guilds are represented in over 100 countries worldwide as a vocational awarding body for qualifications.
